FATAL SCENE — A LAFB airman was killed instantly last night as his motorcycle crashed into the auto pictured here. The impact of the crash ripped off the right rear fender and tore the top loose from the car. A passenger in the auto was treated for minor cuts and abrasions. The driver of the car was not injured. Lockbourne Airman Killed As Cycle Crashes into Car

A Lockbourne Air Force Base airman was fatally injured at 7:35 p. m. yesterday when his motorcycle crashed into an auto about nine miles north of Ashville on the Circleville-Lockbourne Road.

A 1-C Ezra Twain Morgan, 28, Gregory Trailer Park, Ashville, was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. H. H. Swope, deputy coroner. Death was caused by a fractured skull, according to the coroner's report.

Pickaway County Deputies William Pontious and Dixie Watters

the chin strap was still fastened under Morgan's chin.

Last night's accident was the second highway fatality of the year in Pickaway County. The first came in March following an accident on Route 23 south of here.

SHERIFF Walton Spangler said today, "This is the first fatal accident investigated by the department since I took office in January

I regret that the moment finally arrived."

Statistics show that Pickaway County recorded a total of eight traffic fatalities for the first six months of last year.

Personal and family information concerning Morgan were not available at noon today, but reports from the Sheriff's Department indicated that arrangements will be completed at Lockbourne AFB.

Jimmy Hoffa Tells Kennedys, Other Critics, To Get Lost

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—James R. Hoffa today advised his critics to get lost. He said he's whipped 'em and they might as well admit it.

Hoffa, 48, a one-time Detroit warehouse hand, was elected overwhelmingly Friday to a second five-year term as president of the Teamsters, the nation's largest labor union over only token opposition.

"Seriously," Hoffa remarked later, "I think Bobby Kennedy, my brother the President, the secretary of labor, and the supposed Senate select committee ought to recognize now that the time and effort they've put in trying to destroy the Teamsters have completely failed. It was a waste of time."

C&O Ends Its Plea To Absorb B&O

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad has concluded its bid before the Interstate Commerce Commission for control of the Baltimore & Ohio system.

The New York Central Monday begins its plea to be permitted either to take over the B&O or to merge with both the C&O and B&O.

Dr. John H. Frederick, a University of Maryland business professor, testified Friday a combine with the well-fixed financially C&O "promises the salvation of B&O."

"No other railroad by affiliation and ultimate merger could promise so much support for the seriously weakened B&O," he said.

said witnesses reported that Morgan was travelling at a high rate of speed and had passed several cars prior to the accident.

Merle R. Hedges, 33, Route 3, Lancaster, driver of the automobile was not injured according to deputies. Anna Mae Little, 25, Ashville, a passenger in the Hedges auto, was treated for minor cuts and abrasions at a doctor's office close to the scene.

DEPUTY Watters said Morgan was returning from a party at the LAFB when the fatality occurred. The Hedges auto was attempting a left turn into the Wayside Market as Morgan was approaching at a high rate of speed.

The late model auto involved was declared a total loss by deputies. The impact of the motorcycle demolished the right side of the auto and ripped the top loose from the body of the car.

Morgan's body was taken to Lockbourne Air Force Base.

Deputy Pontious said the victim's body was found about 15 feet from the motorcycle. The body and auto never left the road.

Watters said a helmet Morgan was wearing was found nearly 200 feet from the body. He said that

Swivel Chair Falls Deputy Sheriff

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Sgt. Richard N. Metcalfe, 26, a Butler County deputy sheriff, recently transferred from patrol duty to be night jailer.

On the surface, it looked like a safe assignment. But Metcalfe didn't reckon with the dangers of a swivel chair.

Metcalfe leaned back in his swivel chair Thursday night and went a bit too far. A spring popped off the chair and struck him on the ankle.

He's in Mercy Hospital for treatment of the severe ankle injury.

City '62 Budget To Be $246,971

Estimated cost of running the City of Circleville for 1962 will be $246,971.13.

This figure for General Fund expenditures was submitted to City Council in a special meeting last night called to study the tax budget for 1962. The report was compiled by City Auditor Marvene Turner and submitted for the solons' study.

Public hearing on the proposed budget is set for 8 p. m. July 18 at the regular meeting of Council at the City Hall Chambers.

Estimated General Fund receipts for next year total $249,893.78, leaving a balance of $2,832.65 at the end of 1961.

IN COMPARISON, the estimated budget submitted last year listed expenditures at $229,706 and receipts at $248,931.26.

Most significant change in the estimated expenditures for 1962 is a boost of about $9,000 for police services and new equipment, reflecting the request for additional policemen and new equipment. Other increases included about $1,759 for park expenses and approved pay raises in various city departments.

The city expects to have a balance of $19,225.26 at the end of this year, but only $2,832.65 at the end of 1962.

No important changes are expected in income for 1961. The largest share of general fund money comes from the general property tax. This year it is expected the figure will be about $95,000 and it will be about $100,000 next year according to estimates.

All other income items are to be about the same level next year. Here is where the majority of the $246,971.13 is to come from:

BALANCE from 1961, $19,225.26; general property tax, $100,000; Classified property tax, $5,500; dealers' intangible and other taxes, $11,000; Cigarette tax, $1,950;

Inheritance tax, $8,500; Highway privileges tax, $438.36; Liquor permits, $10,000; other permits and licenses, $275; fines and forfeitures from civil cases, $2,100; fees and costs from criminal cases, $35,000; health subsidy from the state, $1,900;

Building permits, $1,000; birth and death certificates, $170; sewer privileges and rents, $185; parking meter revenue, $21,000; fire protection contracts, $5,485; reimbursement of Municipia; Court

Lightning Kills Army Recruits

4 Die, 15 Injured In Georgia Mishap

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — Four young Army recruits undergoing basic training died violently, by a bolt of lightning struck a tree and ricocheted into a group of soldiers at a remote rifle range on the sprawling Ft. Benning military reservation.

Fifteen other soldiers were injured and taken to Martin Army Hospital Friday.

The victims were identified late Melvin C. White, Jr., 18, of Macon, Ga.; James E. Whitaker, 20, New Paltz, N.Y.; Billy G. Casebolt, 17, of Ford's Branch, Ky., and Donald Dinardo, 18, of Pittsburgh, Pa. They were pronounced dead on arrival at the hospital.

None of the 15 soldiers admitted to the hospital is believed to be seriously injured, the PIO said.

The group of about 20 soldiers was receiving instruction in rifle training when a sudden summer thunderstorm came up. The recruits suspended the training and were seeking shelter when the bolt splintered the tree and ricocheted into their midst.

Officers and non-commissioned officers in the field immediately began to administer first aid and artificial respiration to the stricken men. A rescue squad dispatched by helicopter reached the scene approximately 15 minutes

Helicopters flew the most seriously injured men to the hospital, and trucks at the scene transported those who had been merely dazed by the bolt.

Capt. A. C. Mitchell, 2nd Division information officer, said the men were awaiting their turn to fire on the Jacelin-Handrich rifle range, when the storm swept over the northeast sector of the post.

The unsung measure prohibits the setting up of state drive-in liquor stores, retail sale of liquor in ounce-and-a-half miniature containers (which could be obtained only on special order) and use of gift certificates for liquor or beer sales.

The vetoed measure would have revised small loan interest for the first time since 1943, lowering rates on loans under $450 and increasing them for loans above that amount. It also would have increased the amount small loan companies could lend from $1,000 to $2,000.

Governor Vetoes Small Loan Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Using his veto power for the 11th time this legislative session, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has turned thumbs down on an act to revise small loan interest rates.

And, for the second time in this 27-week-old session, he is allowing an act to become law without his signature.

Hoffa said that another aim is to minimize strikes while reducing the accepted retirement age to 55 years after 20 years of work.

Hoffa, as everyone had predicted, was elected in a landslide. His only opponent, Milton J. Liss, president of Local 478, Newark, N.J., withdrew halfway through a tedious roll call vote. Only 15 delegates voted for him. Five delegates abstained. Eventually, Hoffa's re-election was made unanimous.

Hoffa emerged from the convention with possibly the broadest powers ever vested in a labor union leader and with the biggest salary, $75,000.

Kingston Citizens, Council To Debate Sewage Solution

Kingston residents will be presented plans formulated by the Village Council for a sanitary sewage treatment system at a special hearing at 8 p. m. Wednesday in the Kingston Union High School auditorium.

Presentation of the proposal for public consideration follows almost a decade of controversy among the citizenry, Village Council and the State Board of Health.

On two occasions bond issues for financing of conventional type treatment systems have been rejected by village voters. The situation was brought to a head by Ohio health authorities in January.

With the issuance of a sewage discharge permit, the Water Pollution Control Board stipulated a list of requirements to be met by the village prior to the permit's expiration Jan. 15, 1962.

THE state board indicated at that time that if requirements were not met to their satisfaction on the expiration date, no new permit would be issued.

This would mean, in effect, that Kingston would, after Jan. 15, be subject to heavy fines for illegally disposing of sewage.

Council took its first step toward compliance with the regulations imposed by the Water Pollution Board at a special emergency meeting June 8.

At that time the councilmen approved passage of an ordinance imposing a sewer rental charge on village residents. This tariff, based on amount of water usage, became effective July 1, with the first billings to be in August. Subsequent fees will be paid on a monthly basis.

The town fathers met again Thursday night to study ways in which financing of a sewage treatment plant can be accomplished.

The public meeting Wednesday will acquaint the citizens with council's findings.

MRS. Gwendolyn Rhoades, village Clerk, said yesterday the councilmen were "anxious" to present the public with the facts about the sewage situation. She pointed out that final approval of the necessary financing rested with the voters.

Three major requirements established for Kingston by the state health officials have received

No 'Crisis' Tag Attached To Conference

Diplomatic, Military Aides Are Called to Chief's Vacation Home

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President Kennedy began a second summer weekend today at his vacation home on the shore of Nantucket Sound with a discussion on Germany and Berlin with three of his top diplomatic and military advisers.

Kennedy's chief press spokesman said the meeting should not be considered "either a crisis or an emergency meeting."

Rather, said Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, it is one of a continuing series of meetings on Germany and Berlin.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, the President's military representative, will meet with Kennedy both ashore and afloat.

After conferring for about an hour at Kennedy's summer home, they were to board the cabin cruiser Marlin for lunch and further talks expected to last until mid-afternoon.

Normally, it might be expected that the military chiefs, or at least Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, their chairman, would be included in such a high level conference.

However, the White House view was understood to be that this is just one of a series of meetings on the Berlin crisis, that such meetings do not always include representatives of the JCS.

Sources familiar with Lemnitzer's thinking disputed a suggestion that omission of the military chiefs or Lemnitzer means they are being brushed aside in favor of Taylor, an outspoken critic of the JCS system.

These sources said the President is aware of the joint chiefs' views on possible military measures in the Berlin situation. They noted that Lemnitzer sat in on the recent National Security Council meeting at which possible steps for dealing with the renewed Soviet threat were discussed.

Salinger said today's conference had no bearing on the reply of the Western Big Four powers to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's latest pronouncements on Berlin.

The reply, Salinger noted, already has been drafted. It is being sent to Paris for a final check-over by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization before being sent to Moscow, probably late next week.

Khrushchev has declared he intends to sign a peace treaty with Communist East Germany at the end of this year. This is viewed by the United States and its allies as a move to oust the Western powers from Berlin.

The Western powers reportedly will reiterate their firm stand on their rights to West Berlin, but at the same time leave the door open for further negotiations.

Kennedy flew here Friday for the weekend on Cape Cod. Mrs. Kennedy and the two Kennedy children, Caroline, 3, and John Jr., 7 months old, already were here.

Kennedy expects to remain here until Monday morning. Mrs. Kennedy will accompany him back to the capital, but the children are expected to remain for most of the summer.

Newton Falls Men Fined For Disrupting Tax Man

CLEVELAND (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge Paul Jones Friday fined Tom Manos and Earl Damesworth, both of Newton Falls $200 and costs each in their pleas of guilty to charges they interfered with Internal Revenue Service agents.

Indictments charged that they tore a seizure notice from a Newton Falls building owned by Manos & Associates and a padlock from the company's office door. The building was seized last September for payment of a $6,739 tax lien against Manos.

U.S.-Soviet Test Talks Nearly Dead

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some U.S. authorities think the latest angry exchange of charges between the Soviet Union and the United States indicates the Geneva negotiations for a nuclear weapons test ban may be at a dead end.

Officially, however, the United States is asking the Soviet Union to breathe new life into the negotiations that have dragged on for almost three years.

In Moscow Friday, the Soviet government accused the United States of trying to "justify, in the eyes of public opinion, the resumption of nuclear tests."

The United States fired back a charge that the Soviet Union was dodging the central issue of the negotiations—"Whether the Soviet Union is now willing and prepared to reach an accord which would halt nuclear weapons tests under effective international controls.

The United States called on Moscow to reverse its position and "join the United States and the United Kingdom in their determined efforts to bring an end to the testing of nuclear weapons."

Soviet Premier Khrushchev has sought to merge the nuclear test ban talks with a proposed new multi-nation conference on general disarmament. President Kennedy has rejected this proposal.

The two powers appear to be engaged in a campaign to fix the blame for failure of the prolonged Geneva talks, but neither will admit the conference has come to a dead end. Technically, it still is in session.

The Soviet note was presented to U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson in Moscow Wednesday and made public by the Soviets Friday.

At about the same time the U.S. reply was announced, an influential Republican senator told the Senate the United States can no longer delay resumption of its own weapons testing program.

Sen. Styles Bridges, R-N.H., said that during the almost three years that nuclear weapons tests have been suspended and the Geneva talks carried on, the Soviet Union may have gone ahead in secret on development of a neutron bomb—a completely new type of nuclear weapon.

Bridges is chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee. Officials say privately the United States is reluctant to resume nuclear weapons tests, fearing it would subject the country to severe criticism throughout the world.

Khrushchev announced today that the Soviet Union has suspended planned reductions in its armed forces in view of the world situation.

War budgets of North Atlantic nations are growing, Khrushchev said, and the Soviet government accordingly has decided to increase defense allocations for this year by 3,144,000,000 rubles. (The Soviets value the ruble at $1.11.)

This will raise the Soviet Union's announced military spending in 1961 to 12,399,000,000 rubles. Khrushchev asserted that these were forced measures.

"We are taking them due to the emerging circumstances because we cannot neglect the interests of the Soviet people's security," he said.

The premier appealed in a speech to the leaders of the United States, Britain and France to "display wisdom" and join in concluding a peace treaty with Germany.

He spoke at a Kremlin reception for graduates of Soviet military academies.

Radio Moscow and the Soviet News Agency Tass joined in relaying his words to the world.

"In our time no other step can be more peaceable than the conclusion of a peace treaty and the elimination of the vestiges of the last war," Khrushchev said.

He was up pole, But Lady Driver

Gets Him Anyhow

CINCINNATI (AP)—Robert W. Shannon was up on top of a telephone pole—but a woman driver still got him.

Shannon, 53, has been a telephone lineman for 36 years. Friday he was playing his trade, 15 feet off the ground, when a woman driver going around a curve lost control.

The car hit the pole and broke it in half. Shannon ended up on the ground with a bruised shoulder. The woman driver was unhurt.

"First time in 36 years that something like this has happened," mused Shannon, resting at home after his experience. "Just lucky, I guess."

Czech Mine Fire Fatal To At Least 108 Men

PRAGUE (AP) — Fire broke out in a Czechoslovakian coal mine in the Carpathian Mountains Friday night killing 108 miners, the official Czech news agency Ceteka reported.

The cause of the disaster is unknown. It occurred at the Dulk mine in the Ostrava Karvina coalfield.

Ceteka said the fire spread rapidly. Rescue teams were rushed to the scene from the entire coal basin. They battled the blaze until the early hours this morning.

At about the same time the U.S. reply was announced, an influential Republican senator told the Senate the United States can no longer delay resumption of its own weapons testing program.

Lockbourne Airman Killed As Cycle Crashes into Car

A Lockbourne Air Force Base airman was fatally injured at 7:35 p. m. yesterday when his motorcycle crashed into an auto about nine miles north of Ashville on the Circleville-Lockbourne Road.

A 1-C Ezra Twain Morgan, 28, Gregory Trailer Park, Ashville, was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. H. H. Swope, deputy coroner. Death was caused by a fractured skull, according to the coroner's report.

Pickaway County Deputies William Pontious and Dixie Watters

the chin strap was still fastened under Morgan's chin.

Last night's accident was the second highway fatality of the year in Pickaway County. The first came in March following an accident on Route 23 south of here.

SHERIFF Walton Spangler said today, "This is the first fatal accident investigated by the department since I took office in January and the moment finally arrived."

Statistics show that Pickaway County recorded a total of eight traffic fatalities for the first six months of last year.

Personal and family information concerning Morgan were not available at noon today, but reports from the Sheriff's Department indicated that arrangements will be completed at Lockbourne AFB.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—James R. Hoffa today advised his cities to get lost. He said he's whipped 'em and they might as well admit it.

Hoffa, 48, a one-time Detroit warehouse hand, was elected overwhelmingly Friday to a second five-year term as president of the Teamsters, the nation's largest labor union over only token opposition.

"Seriously," Hoffa remarked later, "I think Bobby Kennedy, his brother the President, the secretary of labor, and the supposed Senate select committee ought to recognize now that the time and effort they've put in trying to destroy the Teamsters have completely failed. It was a waste of time."

said witnesses reported that Morgan was travelling at a high rate of speed and had passed several cars prior to the accident.

Merle R. Hedges, 33, Route 3, Lancaster, driver of the automobile was not injured according to deputies. Anna Mae Little, 25, Ashville, a passenger in the Hedges auto, was treated for minor cuts and abrasions at a doctor's office close to the scene.

DEPUTY Watters said Morgan was returning from a party at the LAFB when the fatality occurred. The Hedges auto was attempting a left turn into the Wayside Market as Morgan was approaching at a high rate of speed.

The late model auto involved was declared a total loss by deputies. The impact of the motorcycle demolished the right side of the auto and ripped the top loose from the body of the car.

Morgan's body was taken to Lockbourne Air Force Base.

Deputy Pontious said the victim's body was found about 15 feet from the motorcycle. The body and auto never left the road.

Watters said a helmet Morgan was wearing was found nearly 200 feet from the body. He said that

Kingston Citizens, Council To Debate Sewage Solution

Kingston residents will be presented plans formulated by the Village Council for a sanitary sewage treatment system at a special hearing at 8 p. m. Wednesday in the Kingston - Union High School auditorium.

Presentation of the proposal for public consideration follows almost a decade of controversy among the citizenry. Village Council and the State Board of Health.

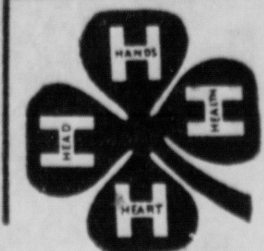

On two occasions bond issues for financing of conventional type treatment systems have been rejected by village voters. The situation was brought to a head by Ohio health authorities in January.

With the issuance of a sewage discharge permit, the Water Pollution Control Board stipulated a list of requirements to be met by the village prior to the permit's expiration Jan. 15, 1962.

THE state board indicated at that time that if requirements were not met to their satisfaction on the expiration

In Pickaway County, each 4-H club attempts to select one outstanding individual in the county contest. Each applicant must then submit to the Agricultural Extension office an application and a personal health record, which gives information on his or her health from birth to present.

The contestants were interviewed on June 26. They were interviewed by the county extension staff and the 10 finalists, five boys and five girls, were selected. They are Janey Hockman, Carol Torchick, Sue Rihl, Jackie Lindsey, Judy Dean, Larry Vance, Fred Crist, Larry Cremins, Steve Neff and Tom Tottle.

The final selection of one boy and one girl to represent the county will be made on July 14 at the county health office by Dr. Frank Moore.

One hundred seventeen 4-H club members from Pickaway County are now camping at Tar Hollow for a five-day period. Pickaway County campers will be camping jointly with Ross County 4-H club members.

Junior camp members will receive training in swimming, conservation, recreation, leadership and several crafts. In addition campers will participate in campfire, outdoor recreation, vespers and many other activities.

Stir and Chatter

By Linda White

A family picnic was held at Ted Lewis Park on Wednesday evening, by the Stir and Chatter 4-H Club. Other recent activities of the club have been two cooking meetings and a tour and a party for preschool and first grade children in county boarding homes.

The two cooking meetings held at the home of the adviser, Mrs. Sterling Poling, consisted of each member preparing a part of a luncheon. Demonstrations were given by Melissa Matz and Sue Barnhill on stove safety, preparing a box lunch by Kathy and Julie Sanscrainte, setting a table by Patty Robinson, preparing and serving a beverage by Sandra May and Patricia Giff.

On the tour to Columbus all club members visited the restaurant facilities, a bakery and candy shop and the kitchens at Columbus and Southern Electric Co. where the preparation of a snack or light supper was demonstrated for the group.

The party was held at Ted Lewis Park with 11 guests, plus Mrs. Kolen Wright, home demonstration agent, and Mrs. Mary Yates, executive secretary to the Child Welfare Board, and several of the foster mothers. The party was planned as a let's pretend birthday party with games, gifts and refreshments to follow that theme.

Judging for Stir and Chatter club members will be 9 a. m. Tuesday.

Corn Growers Reminded of Leaf Aphids

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture

This may be a good year for corn leaf aphid to strike our county corn fields. These "critters" strike at about the time corn tassels.

In the past they have done more damage to later corn than to earlier corn. This year we've a lot of late corn and the presence of the aphid may be greater.

If we are lucky enough to have good soil moisture for the rest of the summer the damage may not be noticeable.

The aphids feed inside the whorl, protected from the weather. It is not until the whorl opens to let the tassels grow out that aphids are often discovered.

THE APHIDS sap the stalk of great amounts of moisture and will leave the corn stalk without an ear. The cob will form but kernels will not exist.

My suggestions would be for farmers to keep a very close check on their corn as the tassels begin to show up. A few aphids should not cause particular concern.

If 25 per cent or more plants are heavily infested and soil moisture is low, spray with Malathion or Parathion when 25 per cent to 50 per cent of the tassels begin to show.

The spray need not be used if soil moisture is plentiful. This moisture will help to prevent extensive damage.

This spraying of course cannot be done with conventional equipment. High boy or aerial equipment need to be used. Aerial spray service can be secured locally.

New Haven Railroad Files As Bankrupt

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—The New Haven Railroad today filed a petition for reorganization under the Bankruptcy Act.

The petition was approved immediately by Judge Robert P. Anderson of U.S. District Court. He said it was "made in good faith."

The papers were filed by a representative of the railroad after the line's board of directors had cleared the way at a meeting in New York City.

The petition was filed a day after the federal government refused to grant the line a $5.5 million emergency loan.

The railroad's petition said it was "without sufficient funds to pay and discharge" its financial obligations "and on information and belief alleges that it has no means of borrowing or otherwise procuring such funds."

The New Haven's petition also said the railroad is unable to "meet its debts as they mature, and desires to effect a plan of reorganization pursuant to Section 77B of the Bankruptcy Act."

Under the act the judge is empowered to appoint trustees within 30 days.

The papers were signed by the railroad's president, George Alpert.

Counterfeiter Gets 3-Year Sentence

CLEVELAND (AP)—A federal judge today sentenced Robert E. Walsh, 33, to three years in prison for counterfeit and passing money $20 bills.

U.S. District Judge James C. Connors sentenced the former Cleveland detective to three years on each of two counts, but made the sentences concurrent. He continued Walsh $10,000 bond, and Walsh was freed on bond pending appeal.

The counterfeiting operation, according to federal agents, was conducted at the Youngstown home of Hugh Lynn, now serving a 10-year sentence.

New Spray Equipment Helps Dairy Farmers Fight Flies

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture

Flies which bother dairy cows are really in for trouble this summer if the amount of effective new spray equipment available to farmers is any indication.

Manufacturers of farm spray equipment have come out with several good, inexpensive sprayers — something for which farmers have been waiting for years. Now a dairy farmer can protect his cows from flies for many hours, according to Dr.

R. P. Holdsworth, Ohio State University extension entomologist. Here are some examples of what's new in fly control equipment.

Hand sprayer for applying pyrethrum to dairy cows. It puts out one-half ounce of spray at each stroke. The farmer can treat his whole herd quickly, using only two strokes per animal.

Electric sprayer. In ten seconds the farmer can put enough spray on a cow to give many hours of protection in pasture. The spray also is fine enough to give good control of flies in the barn.

PORTABLE mechanical aerosol sprayer — This one makes an extremely fine spray and can be adjusted to put out two ounces per minute. It can be carried the length of the barn, will apply enough spray to eliminate flies in the barn and still protect cows in pasture.

Rotating sprayer — This unit hangs from the ceiling. It rotates by means of an electric motor, sending out a fine spray about 20 feet in each direction. This is useful in smaller operations.

Fogger type machine — It hangs up like the rotating sprayer, has four nozzles that apply spray as a fog.

Along with new spraying equipment has come some new spray materials, says Dr. Holdsworth. One is a fogger strength spray which contains 0.1 per cent pyrethrin. It requires a lot less material for good results than do most sprays.

Another is a 0.35 per cent pyrethrum to which two repellents have been added. This material is especially effective in protecting cows in pasture, according to the entomologist.

There are some new fly baits on the market now, too. One from supply company is selling a dry fly bait containing DDPV.

It is a fast killer and not hazardous to use, Dr. Holdsworth says, but must be put out every day or two. DDT is more long-lasting than DDPV.

WHEN it comes to spraying barn walls, diazinon will give dairy farmers better results than other recommended insecticides which don't last so long. Diazinon will give fly control for about four weeks.

It should not be used in poultry houses, however, Dr. Holdsworth advises. Malathion still is best for all poultry operations and for drenching manure.

Dr. Holdsworth has prepared mimeograph material on control of flies on beef cattle, on dairy cows and in farm buildings. The material includes recommendations on what insecticides to use and how to use them under various farm situations. Copies of this material are available by writing or calling the County Extension office (GR 4-5828).

Veterans Housing Loan Bill Signed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today signed a billion-dollar veterans housing loan bill.

The legislation increases the available for direct government loans to veterans in areas where they cannot obtain private financing under government repayment guarantees.

It adds $350 million to the $150 million already available for the remaining 15 months of the presently authorized program, and extends the loan authorization for five more years with yearly amounts totaling $700 million. The money is borrowed from the Treasury for lending.

The bill also extends the time during which veterans would be eligible for home loans, both guaranteed and direct. The extension would amount to about three years for most World War II veterans still eligible and about eight years for most Korean veterans.

The Air Force Systems Command's Aeronautical Systems Division, at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, Ohio, is responsible for planning and meeting future Air Force vehicles for manned, aerospace operations.

Video Piping Firm Is Sued For $1 Million

FAIRMONT, W.Va. (AP) — A television cable company which pipes in programs of selected TV stations to homes for a fee has been sued for $1 million by an Ohio television corporation.

WSTV, Inc., of Steubenville, Ohio, filed the action Thursday in U.S. District Court here against the Fortnightly Corp. of Delaware, which operates TV cables in Clarksburg and Fairmont, W. Va.

WSTV owns and operates WSTV, Channel 9, in Steubenville, and WBOY-TV, Channel 12, in Clarksburg.

WSTV Inc., of Steubenville, without permission "plucks" Channel 9 signals from the air for retransmission over the closed cable circuit.

The plaintiff said, among other things, the cable firm was "stealing, appropriating and pirating its valuable property rights."

It also contended that the cable company in many cases disconnects the built-in antennas on sets they are hooking up to their cable and as a result cut off Channel 12 signals.

WSTV said in addition leakage of electric energy from the cables distorted Channel 12 reception in Clarksburg and nearby Fairmont.

The Steubenville company said there are 8,300 cable subscribers in Clarksburg, 5,150 in Fairmont. The company said in its petition there are 130,000 homes in Channel 12's area and about 50,000 have TV sets.

Plan Grain Bin Cleaning To Prevent Weevil Damage

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture

Grain bins for storage of small grains should be cleaned out and treated to prevent grain weevil damage.

This should be done, for best results, two weeks before harvest, but can and should be done anytime between two weeks and harvest.

The clean up now will prevent next year's infestation. Sweep down ceiling, walls and floors and burn sweepings and all old worthless grain. The floors and walls then should be sprayed with methoxychlor or malathion.

Grain stored below 14 per cent moisture is not readily infested. However, grain stored above 14 per cent moisture is a good invitation for weevil damage.

GRAIN to be stored on the farm should be treated with a grain protectant, either pyrethrum or a premix grade malathion. This can be mixed with the grain as you fill the truck or bin.

Now is a good time to treat carry-over corn. This is the time weevil will begin to work in stored corn also.

Stored corn or other grains can be fumigated. This will not hurt the grain for food or livestock consumption.

Carbon compounds can be used. They are liquids that evaporate into a gas heavier than air.

This gas displaces air in the grain and kills weevils it contacts. This fumigation should be done on very calm days and when the temperature is above 7 degrees.

The fumigant should be exposed to the top surface of the grain. A coarse spray may be used. If the grain will not be used for several days a sprinkling can be used.

THE GRAIN may then be covered with a tarpaulin. Keep the bin air tight as possible for 36 hours. Do not enter bin after fumigation until it has been ventilated.

The carbon compounds are very combustible. Do not turn on light switches and have fires near where these materials have been used.

These materials may be purchased with a fire suppressant. This should be used.

TALENT CONTEST

All youth in Pickaway County between the ages of 10 and 21 are eligible to try out for the Pickaway County Fair Talent Contest.

A screening contest will be held July 13 from 8:30 to 8 p. m., at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds Coliseum. All acts must be screened to be eligible for fair competition.

Further information on this contest as to rules may be obtained from the Agricultural Extension Service, 159 1/2 E. Main St.

Each year the county holds a 4-H Health contest to select participants for the State Health contest. Each county in the state has the privilege of sending one boy and one girl to participate in the state contest which is held at the State Fair.

In Pickaway County, each 4-H club attempts to select one outstanding individual in the county contest. Each applicant must then submit to the Agricultural Extension office an application and a personal health record, which gives information on his or her health from birth to present.

The contestants were interviewed on June 26. They were interviewed by the county extension staff and the 10 finalists, five boys and five girls, were selected. They are Janey Hockman, Carol Torchick, Sue Rihl, Jackie Lindsey, Judy Dean, Larry Vance, Fred Crist, Larry Cremons, Steve Neff and Tom Tootle.

The final selection of one boy and one girl to represent the county will be made on July 14 at the county health office by Dr. Frank Moore.

One hundred seventeen 4-H club members from Pickaway County are now camping at Tar Hollow for a five-day period. Pickaway County campers will be camping jointly with Ross County 4-H club members.

Junior camp members will receive training in swimming, conservation, recreation, leadership and several crafts. In addition campers will participate in campfire, outdoor recreation, vespers and many other activities.

Extension Agents working with 4-H campers include Edwin D. Taylor, county extension agent, 4-H; Kileen Wright, county extension agent, home economics; and George Hamrick, county extension agent, agriculture—all from Pickaway County. Ross County extension agents will also be at the camp.

Stir and Chatter

By Linda White

A family picnic was held at Ted Lewis Park on Wednesday evening, by the Stir and Chatter 4-H Club. Other recent activities of the club have been two cooking meetings and a tour and a party for preschool and first grade children in county boarding homes.

The two cooking meetings held at the home of the adviser, Mrs. Sterling Poling, consisted of each member preparing a part of a luncheon. Demonstrations were given by Melissa Matz and Sue Barnhill on stove safety, preparing a box lunch by Kathy and Julie Sanscrainte, setting a table by Patty Robinson, preparing and serving a beverage by Sandra May and Patricia Glitt.

On the tour to Columbus all club members visited the restaurant facilities, a bakery and candy shop and the kitchens at Columbus and Southern Electric Co. where the preparation of a snack or light supper was demonstrated for the group.

The party was held at Ted Lewis Park with 11 guests, plus Mrs. Kolen Wright, home demonstration agent, and Mrs. Mary Yates, executive secretary to the Child Welfare Board, and several of the foster mothers. The party was planned as a let's pretend birthday party with games, gifts and refreshments to follow that theme.

Judging for Stir and Chatter club members will be 9 a. m. Tuesday.

Corn Growers Reminded of Leaf Aphids

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture

This may be a good year for corn leaf aphid to strike our county corn fields. These "critters" strike at about the time corn tassels.

In the past they have done more damage to later corn than to earlier corn. This year we've a lot of late corn and the presence of the aphid may be greater.

If we are lucky enough to have good soil moisture for the rest of the summer the damage may not be noticeable.

The aphids feed inside the whorl, protected from the weather. It is not until the whorl opens to let the tassels grow out that aphids are often discovered.

THE APHIDS sap the stalk of great amounts of moisture and will leave the corn stalk without an ear. The cob will form but kernels will not exist.

My suggestions would be for farmers to keep a very close check on their corn as the tassels begin to show up. A few aphids should not cause particular concern.

If 25 per cent or more plants are heavily infested and soil moisture is low, spray with Malathion or Parathion when 25 per cent to 50 per cent of the tassels begin to show.

The spray need not be used if soil moisture is plentiful. This moisture will help to prevent extensive damage.

This spraying of course cannot be done with conventional equipment. High boy or aerial equipment need to be used. Aerial spray service can be secured locally.

New Haven Railroad Files As Bankrupt

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—The New Haven Railroad today filed a petition for reorganization under the Bankruptcy Act.

The petition was approved immediately by Judge Robert P. Anderson of U.S. District Court. He said it was "made in good faith."

The papers were filed by a representative of the railroad after the line's board of directors had cleared the way at a meeting in New York City.

The petition was filed a day after the federal government refused to grant the line a $5.5 million emergency loan.

The railroad's petition said it was "without sufficient funds to pay and discharge" its financial obligations "and on information and belief alleges that it has no means of borrowing or otherwise procuring such funds."

The New Haven's petition also said the railroad is unable to "meet its debts as they mature, and desires to effect a plan of reorganization pursuant to Section 77B of the Bankruptcy Act."

Under the act the judge is empowered to appoint trustees within 30 days.

The papers were signed by the railroad's president, George Alpert.

Counterfeiter Gets 3-Year Sentence

CLEVELAND (AP)—A federal judge today sentenced Robert E. Walsh, 33, to three years in prison for counterfeiting and passing phony $20 bills.

U.S. District Judge James C. Connell sentenced the former Cleveland detective to three years on each of two counts, but made the sentences concurrent. He continued Walsh $10,000 bond, and Walsh was freed on bond pending appeal.

The counterfeiting operation, according to federal agents, was conducted at the Youngstown home of Hugh Lynn, now serving a 10-year sentence.

New Spray Equipment Helps Dairy Farmers Fight Flies

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture

Flies which bother dairy cows are really in for trouble this summer if the amount of effective new spray equipment available to farmers is any indication.

Manufacturers of farm spray equipment have come out with several good, inexpensive sprayers — something for which farmers have been waiting for years. Now a dairy farmer can protect his cows from flies for many hours, according to Dr.

R. P. Holdsworth, Ohio State University extension entomologist. Here are some examples of what's new in fly control equipment.

Hand sprayer for applying pyrethrum to dairy cows. It puts out one-half ounce of spray at each stroke. The farmer can treat his whole herd quickly, using only two strokes per animal.

Electric sprayer. In ten seconds the farmer can put enough spray on a cow to give many hours of protection in pasture. The spray also is fine enough to give good control of flies in the barn.

PORTABLE mechanical aerosol sprayer — This one makes an extremely fine spray and can be adjusted to put out two ounces per minute. It can be carried the length of the barn, will apply enough spray to eliminate flies in the barn and still protect cows in pasture.

Rotating sprayer — This unit hangs from the ceiling. It rotates by means of an electric motor, sending out a fine spray about 20 feet in each direction. This is useful in smaller operations.

Fogger type machine — It hangs up like the rotating sprayer, has four nozzles that apply spray as a fog.

Along with new spraying equipment has come some new spray materials, says Dr. Holdsworth. One is a fogger strength spray which contains 0.1 per cent pyrethrins. It requires a lot less material for good results than do most sprays.

Another is a 0.35 per cent pyrethrum to which two repellents have been added. This material is especially effective in protecting cows in pasture, according to the entomologist.

There are some new fly baits on the market now, too. One from supply company is selling a dry fly bait containing DDVP.

It is a fast killer and not hazardous to use, Dr. Holdsworth says, but must be put out every day or two. Dipeptex is more long-lasting than DDVP.

WHEN it comes to spraying barn walls, diazinon will give dairy farmers better results than other recommended insecticides which don't last so long. Diazinon will give fly control for about four weeks.

It should not be used in poultry houses, however, Dr. Holdsworth advises. Malathion still is best for all poultry operations and for drenching manure.

Dr. Holdsworth has prepared mimeograph material on control of flies on beef cattle, on dairy cows and in farm buildings. The material includes recommendations on what insecticides to use and how to use them under various farm situations. Copies of this material are available by writing or calling the County Extension office (GR 4-5828).

Veterans Housing Loan Bill Signed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today signed a billion-dollar veterans housing loan bill. The legislation increases the available for direct government loans to veterans in areas where they cannot obtain private financing under government repayment guarantees.

It adds $350 million to the $150 million already available for the remaining 15 months of the presently authorized program, and extends the loan authorization for five more years with yearly amounts totaling $700 million. The money is borrowed from the Treasury for relending.

The bill also extends the time during which veterans would be eligible for home loans, both guaranteed and direct. The extension would amount to about three years for most World War II veterans still eligible and about eight years for most Korean veterans.

Plan Grain Bin Cleaning To Prevent Weevil Damage

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture

Grain bins for storage of small grains should be cleaned out and treated to prevent grain weevil damage.

This should be done, for best results, two weeks before harvest, but can and should be done anytime between two weeks and harvest.

The clean up now will prevent next year's infestation. Sweep down ceiling, walls and floors and burn sweepings and all old worthless grain. The floors and walls then should be sprayed with methoxychlor or malathion.

Grain stored below 14 per cent moisture is not readily infested. However, grain stored above 14 per cent moisture is a good invitation for weevil damage.

GRAIN to be stored on the farm should be treated with a grain protectant, either pyrethrum or a premium grade malathion. This can be mixed with the grain as you fill the truck or bin.

Now is a good time to treat carry-over corn. This is the time weevil will begin to work in stored corn also.

Stored corn or other grains can be fumigated. This will not hurt the grain for food or livestock consumption.

Carbon compounds can be used. They are liquids that evaporate into a gas heavier than air.

This gas displaces air in the grain and kills weevils it contacts. This fumigation should be done on very calm days and when the temperature is above 7 degrees.

The fumigant should be exposed to the top surface of the grain. A coarse spray may be used. If the grain will not be used for several days a sprinkling can be used.

THE GRAIN may then be covered with a tarpaulin. Keep the bin air tight as possible for 36 hours. Do not enter bin after fumigation until it has been ventilated.

The carbon compounds are very combustible. Do not turn on light switches and have fires near where these materials have been used.

These materials may be purchased with a fire suppressant. This should be used.

Judges Sees Americans Losing Precious Right Intentionally

By HENRY ARLINE

News Editor

WASHINGTON C.H. Record-Herald. WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio (AP)—Is trial by jury a right that is in danger of slipping away from the American people?

Fayette County's two judges think so.

And the reason is not the Communist conspiracy or any other external movement to subvert the American system of government.

The reason is public indifference. Judge John P. Case of Fayette County Common Pleas Court said this indifference has faced us with a serious question: "Are we going to have to establish courts of judges simply because people won't sit on juries?"

Judge Max G. Dee of Washington Court House Municipal Court declared: "If people are not going to do their duty to maintain this constitutional system they will eventually lose it."

The problem was brought forcefully home last week when only 19 prospective jurors appeared out of 40 who had been summoned for duty in municipal court.

After defense and prosecution lawyers had exercised preemptory challenges and other prospective jurors were dismissed for cause, the court was reduced to the necessity of sending the bailiff into the street for takersmen to fill out the 12-member panel.

While some of the 21 citizens called who did not appear had been excused, at least five either did not receive the notice in the mail or ignored it.

And many of those who did contact the court offered the most trivial excuses. They simply didn't wish to be bothered.

"We have no desire to work a hardship on anyone," Judge Dee said. "But when it is simply a matter of being inconvenienced that hardly constitutes a hardship. What happened last week is true not only of what has happened here in the past, but of what is happening elsewhere in Ohio and the nation, the judges reported.

Judge Case said: "I know of judges in Ohio who feel it necessary to write letters to persons who have served on juries thanking them for the service. I think these thank you letters are a travesty. Jury service is a duty of citizenship."

The right to trial by jury is guaranteed in the sixth amendment to the Constitution of the United States. It provides that "in all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the state and district where in the crime shall have been committed . . ."

This amendment not only grants a right, but imposes a duty—a duty to the accused's fellow citizens to provide him a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury, and only they can provide the impartial jury.

Judge Case said many older persons question whether they should serve on juries.

"Actually, age is not material so long as they can hear and conscientiously carry out the instructions of the court," he said.

The judge declared that the jury plays a vital role in a court case. "They are the judges and triers of the facts in the administration of justice."

"People forget when they want to criticize the courts. The courts do not belong to the judges or the lawyers. They belong to the people."

South African Troops Sent to Neighbor Area

South West Africa Is Banned from Probe By UN Committeemen

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—The South African government has moved troops and air and sea forces into the huge territory of South West Africa to guard against any black revolt or invasion from strife-torn neighboring Portuguese Angola.

At the same time, South Africa—which rules "South West" under an old League of Nations mandate—has barred entry to a United Nations committee instructed to investigate charges of racial discrimination.

The U.N. investigators are touring other African countries to interview available refugees from South West. The committee said it would enter the disputed territory despite the ban, and the South African government said it would arrest any committee members that crossed the border.

The South African government contends that its racial segregation policies in South West as well as South Africa are a domestic matter and no concern of the United Nations.

South West Africa was a pre-World War I German colony. It is 317,725 square miles in area and has a population of about 415,000 blacks and 50,000 whites. Largely pastoral and desert, the South West contains diamond mines and good enough oil prospects to have Americans and other foreigners searching.

But most of all, it represents a buffer state between white-ruled South Africa and black independent states of Africa.

South West has a long South Atlantic coastline which with South Africa's own huge Atlantic and Indian Ocean coasts make a long patrolling area for naval and air forces much larger than South Africa can afford. South Africa's defense minister, James J. Fouché, has recently been visiting Britain and other European countries to shore up this defense.

But the main concern at present is the 900-mile frontier between South West Africa and Portuguese Angola.

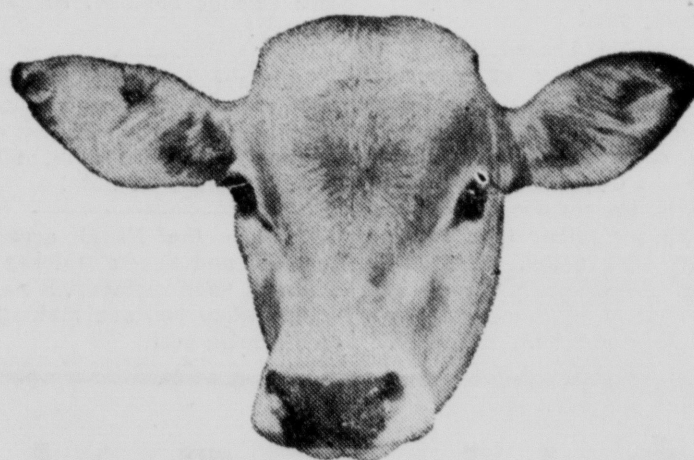

The chief immediate purpose of South African forces is to flush out or choke off gun running from Angola, or via the coast, to South West Africa's blacks and to prepare to repel any "terrorist" activity that may cross South West Africa's border with Angola.

Kind but Dishonest

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Mrs. Ether Jones of Pittsburgh has learned that kind-looking people aren't always honest.

She was in a store burdened down with a number of small packages. A man she described as kind-looking approached and said: "What you need is to put all your packages in one big shopping bag." The man went away and came back with a bag. Mrs. Jones gave him the packages and he promptly walked away and never returned. The packages contained two pairs of shoes, a skirt, and other wearing apparel.

There is a saying that goes, "It's the clothes that makes the man". Some people like to turn this saying around to "It's the man that makes the clothes".

However you say it, clothes may either add to or distract from the becomingness of a person.

Different figure types require different styles, designs and colors of clothing to enhance personal appearance.

A continuous color from tip to toe is ideal for the short woman. Avoid contrasting colors because they tend to decrease petite person's apparent height.

Skirts worn with matching blouses or sweaters are more flattering to the short person than contrasting ones. Suits and two-piece dresses should have matching skirts and jackets. Contrasting belts should be avoided, too.

HATS And shoes the same color as the outfit tend to lengthen the short figure. Even hose should have as little contrast as is fashionably correct — dark hose with dark garments and light hose with light colors. Contrasting gloves tend to make a crosswise line, and this gives a shortening effect.

A small amount of contrasting color may be used by a short person for a smart effect if the color is kept high and near the center of the figure rather than toward the outside edges of the silhouette.

Bright colors, bold designs and bulky fabrics are three "B's" that women who wear half-sizes usually should avoid when selecting dresses.

Conspicuous colors and patterns call attention to the short, heavy figure. A person with such a figure may use touches of bright color though, to call attention to her face and pretty complexion and thus away from her figure.

Plenty of Money Troubles Said Certain To Plague Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Pity the poor 105th — the General Assembly which meets in January 1963—whichever party is in control. While you're at it, shed a tear for the governor who takes his oath of office the same month.

Both the administration and legislature will be in a financial pickle which will make the state's money troubles of the past and present look like a picnic.

It doesn't take any clairvoyant power to see the crisis coming even at this long range. In fact, Republicans and Democrats alike say it's on the way.

Whoever is sworn in as governor in 1963 must have the fortitude to increase state taxes, both to take care of state expenses through June 30, 1965, and to clean up what likely will be a huge batch of unpaid bills for the two-year budget period which ends June 30, 1963.

Senate Finance Chairman William H. Daddens, R - Hamilton, predicted the other night on the senate floor:

"The foundation is being laid now for an increase in taxes of $100 million in the next Biennium."

Plenty of people around the legislature would bet that his forecast is on the low side.

That definitely is a problem of the next legislature, but the immediate concern around the statehouse is the financial jam in which state government could find itself about January 1963 or later—somewhere in the last six months of the budget period for which the Republican-led legislature has just appropriated a record $2,030,826,370.

Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle predicts even that amount won't be enough to cover the state's obligations. He cites, as an example, the problem of poor relief. The state, as a matter of longstanding policy, matches local relief costs dollar for dollar.

But, he points out, the Republican legislature has appropriated only $47.5 million for relief matching in the next two years while the state's share of relief costs in the biennium which ended June 30 was more than $60 million.

The governor cites several other areas in which it may be necessary to make extra appropriations early in 1963 to pay off the state's bills at the end of the budget period.

Republican lawmakers haven't said anything publicly in the last few months of wrestling with the budget bill about the revenue estimates of DiSalle's finance director James H. Maloon.

Rep. Ralph Fisher, R - Wayne, the house finance chairman, concedes now, however, that Maloon's revenue estimates may be "slightly optimistic."

Since the Republicans were spending the money Maloon said will be available in the next two years, they would only have made their own job tougher by condemning Maloon's estimates as too high.

Maloon has forecast high yields from the sales tax and liquor profits for the next two years and Republicans have appropriated up to the hilt on his forecasts.

Maloon is counting on a brisk comeback in the economy. If that comeback isn't forthcoming or if the nation experiences another recession comparable to the one in 1960, Ohio is in money trouble clear up to its throat.

Even if prosperity busts out all over, the state will be no better than even at the end of the budget period.

Judges Sees Americans Losing Precious Right Intentionally

By HENRY ARLINE
News Editor
WASHINGTON C.H. Record-Herald
WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio (AP)—Is trial by jury a right that is in danger of slipping away from the American people?

Fayette County's two judges think so.

And the reason is not the Communist conspiracy or any other external movement to subvert the American system of government.

The reason is public indifference.

Judge John P. Case of Fayette County Common Pleas Court said this indifference has faced us with a serious question: "Are we going to have to establish courts of judges simply because people won't sit on juries?"

Judge Max G. Dee of Washington Court House Municipal Court declared: "If people are not going to do their duty to maintain this constitutional system they will eventually lose it."

The problem was brought forcefully home last week when only 19 prospective jurors appeared out of 40 who had been summoned for duty in municipal court.

After defense and prosecution lawyers had exercised preemptory challenges and other prospective jurors were dismissed for cause, the court was reduced to the necessity of sending the bailiff into the street for talesmen to fill out the 12-member panel.

While some of the 21 citizens called who did not appear had been excused, at least five either did not receive the notice in the mail or ignored it.

And many of those who did contact the court offered the most trivial excuses. They simply didn't wish to be bothered.

"We have no desire to work a hardship on anyone," Judge Dee said. "But when it is simply a matter of being inconvenienced that hardly constitutes a hardship."

What happened last week is true was held on the supplies needed for the fair.

The next meeting will be July 10. It will be an all day meeting from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. with a pot luck dinner.

Projects to raise money for the 4-H club building were discussed. It was decided to mow lawns as a money making project.

Carol Torchick and Shirley Dumm served refreshments.

President Jim Harrah called the sixth meeting to order on May 24 at the Pickaway School.

Carol Torchick was selected as health contestant to represent the club in the county health contest. The club tour was discussed.

Our safety leader, Danny Hicks, showed a film on petroleum safety.

June 4 was the date of the club tour. After the tour President Jim Harrah called the meeting to order. A short business session was conducted. Each member was commended on the progress of his project.

On June 19 President Harrah called a special meeting of the club. The main item on the agenda was the election of contestants for the Fair King and Queen contest. Those elected were Harrah and Sharon Sharrett.

On June 28 the club members enjoyed a swimming party at the Hohenstein home in Kingston. President Harrah presided over a short business meeting. The requirements of each of our projects was discussed.

The next meeting will be our special health meeting conducted by our health leader Carol Torchick. Refreshments were served by Sharon Sharrett and Jim Harrah.

not only of what has happened here in the past, but of what is happening elsewhere in Ohio and the nation, the judges reported.

Judge Case said: "I know of judges in Ohio who feel it necessary to write letters to persons who have served on juries thanking them for the service. I think these thank you letters are a travesty. Jury service is a duty of citizenship."

The right to trial by jury is guaranteed in the sixth amendment to the Constitution of the United States. It provides that "in all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the state and district where in the crime shall have been committed . . ."

This amendment not only grants a right, but imposes a duty—a duty to the accused's fellow citizens to provide him a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury, and only they can provide the impartial jury.

Judge Case said many older persons question whether they should serve in juries.

"Actually, age is not material so long as they can hear and conscientiously carry out the instructions of the court," he said.

The judge declared that the jury plays a vital role in a court case. "They are the judges and triers of the facts in the administration of justice."

"People forget when they want to criticize the courts. The courts do not belong to the judges or the lawyers. They belong to the people."

South African Troops Sent to Neighbor Area

South West Africa Is Banned from Probe By UN Committeemen

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—The South African government has moved troops and air and sea forces into the huge territory of South West Africa to guard against any black revolt or invasion from strife-torn neighboring Portuguese Angola.

At the same time, South Africa—which rules "South West" under an old League of Nations mandate—has barred entry to a United Nations committee instructed to investigate charges of racial discrimination.

The U.N. investigators are touring other African countries to interview available refugees from South West. The committee said it would enter the disputed territory despite the ban, and the South African government said it would arrest any committee members that crossed the border.

The South African government contends that its racial segregation policies in South West as well as South Africa are a domestic matter and no concern of the United Nations.

South West Africa was a pre-World War I German colony. It is 317,725 square miles in area and has a population of about 415,000 blacks and 50,000 whites. Largely pastoral and desert, the South West contains diamond mines and good enough oil prospects to have Americans and other foreigners searching.

But most of all, it represents a buffer state between white-ruled South Africa and black independent states of Africa.

South West has a long South Atlantic coastline which with South Africa's own huge Atlantic and Indian Ocean coasts make a long patrolling area for naval and air forces much larger than South Africa can afford. South Africa's defense minister, James J. Fouché, has recently been visiting Britain and other European countries to shore up this defense.

But the main concern at present is the 900-mile frontier between South West Africa and Portuguese Angola.

The chief immediate purpose of South African forces is to flush out or choke off gun running from Angola, or via the coast, to South West Africa blacks and to prepare to repel any "terrorist" attacks that may cross South West Africa's border with Angola.

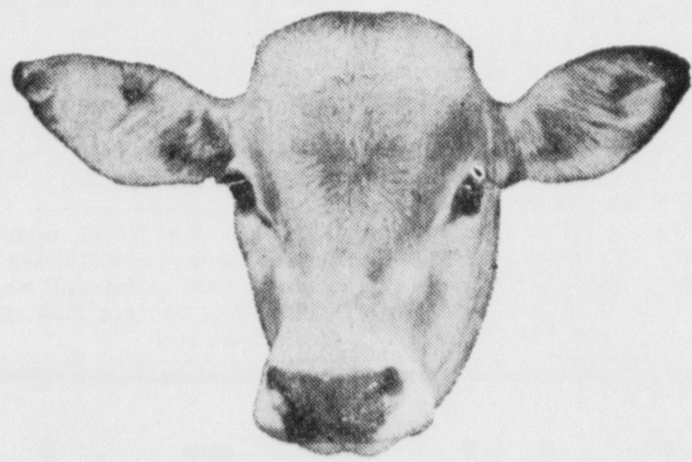

Kind but Dishonest

PTTSBURGH (AP)—Mrs. Ether Jones of Pittsburgh has learned that kind-looking people aren't always honest.

She was in a store burdened down with a number of small packages. A man she described as kind-looking approached and said: "What you need is to put all your packages in one big shopping bag."

The man went away and came back with a bag. Mrs. Jones gave him the packages and he promptly walked away and never returned. The packages contained two pairs of shoes, a skirt, and other wearing apparel.

There is a saying that goes, "It's the clothes that makes the man". Some people like to turn this saying around to "It's the man that makes the clothes".

However you say it, clothes may either add to or detract from the becomingness of a person.

Different figure types require different styles, designs and colors of clothing to enhance personal appearance.

A continuous color from tip to toe is ideal for the short woman. Avoid contrasting colors because they tend to decrease petite person's apparent height.

Skirts worn with matching blouses or sweaters are more flattering to the short person than contrasting ones. Suits and two-piece dresses should have matching skirts and jackets. Contrasting belts should be avoided, too.

HATS and shoes the same color as the outfit tend to lengthen the short figure. Even hose should have as little contrast as is fashionably correct—dark hose with dark garments and light hose with light colors. Contrasting gloves tend to make a crosswise line, and this gives a shortening effect.

A small amount of contrasting color may be used by a short person son for a smart effect if the color is kept high and near the center of the figure rather than toward the outside edges of the silhouette.

Bright colors, bold designs and bulky fabrics are three "B's" that women who wear half-sizes usually should avoid when selecting dresses.

Conspicuous colors and patterns call attention to the short, heavy figure. A person with such a figure may use touches of bright color though, to call attention to her face and pretty complexion and thus away from her figure.

Fabrics with indistinct patterns are wiser choices than striking prints or even plain fabrics. Plain fabrics as well as transparent ones tend to reveal the body contour.

Smooth, supple, close-napped fabrics generally are becoming to the half-size figure. These might include lightweight woolsens and worsteds, soft silks, semi-sheers and other medium-weight fabrics.

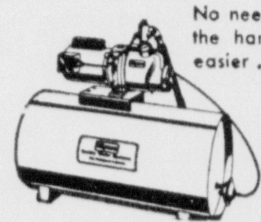

DESIGN details of the garment, such as collars, bows and draping, should be placed within the silhouette. For instance, wide sleeves would not be becoming, as they extend beyond the figure.

Vertical lines would add more apparent height than horizontal ones. Straight lines would be more becoming than curved ones. Round details and curved lines emphasize full figure curves. For example curved neckline and round earrings emphasize a round face.

Many lines and intricate details increase the apparent heaviness of the wearer. Simplicity is important for the half-size woman as well as for the petite person.

Views on Socialized Medicine

Britain's system of socialized medicine has been under intense American scrutiny from its inception. There were some who regarded it as the wave of the future for America, more who were unalterably against it, and others who observed it only as an exhibit of the passing world.

Now Britain's National Health Service is inaugurating still higher charges, which proves to opponents of the scheme that the whole thing is a costly fraud.

In its inauguration year, 1948, the program cost $490 million. Today the cost is $2.4 billion, of which the government supplies $1.8 billion. This burden is regarded as too heavy on the hard pressed British budget.

While everything originally was intended to be on the taxpayers, the Briton is now called upon to pay 28 cents for a prescription instead of 14 cents. And both employer and employee will have substantially more extracted from pay checks to reduce the burden on the government.

Hospitals are overcrowded and some medicos say citizens are taking too much medicine because it's on the government.

An Undignified Attempt

One tends to give the benefit of the doubt to those who seek to devote themselves to saving persons from imprisonment or death. However, it is often the case that persons of good-will become over-enthusiastic about just causes.

The attempt to exchange tractors for human beings was not only absurd but undignified. The device of having a committee of private citizens attempt to do what the government was ashamed to do fooled nobody. Quite openly the Committee advertised that the President of the United States was behind the proposal. Negotiations between the United States and a foreign nation however are best conducted through proper channels.

Castro, of course, made monkeys of the Tractor Committee. He constantly changed the terms. He asked for more. His final proposal was so ridiculous that the Tractor Committee had to turn it down and go out of existence.

What is there to be learned from all this?

More and more it is becoming clear that there are too many volunteers and amateurs in the Kennedy Administration, too many anxious beavers who want to get into things. The President has much to learn from the Cuban fiasco which continues to be a fiasco.

Surely he has discovered by now that the Marine Corps can do a better commanding job than the CIA. The redoubtable General Smedley Butler showed more ability any day of his service than the para-military amateurs in the CIA.

Secondly, the President must by now have discovered that an excellent technician does not necessarily have the breadth of view and the imagination to formulate policy. The fourth floor of the State Department represents, on the whole, considerable ability but insufficient maturity. It was the fourth floor of the State Department that made it possible for Castro to take possession of Cuba. It was there that the decision was made that Batista was a bad boy and Castro a good boy.

Thirdly, on the other hand, no President can do without trained experts. These men have the advantage of languages, of knowledge of the history and literature and the personalities of the countries with which they deal.

The distinction between a technician and a policy-maker, however, is very great. A President and a Secretary of State can and should utilize technicians where they fit, but policy should be made on a broader plane than the technicians are capable of grasping.

Finally, the uninformed, untrained amateur, whose heart is in the right place and who slobbers over every sentimental cause can be a menace. During World War I and immediately after, the manufacturer of plumbing, Charles R. Crane, a noble citizen, well-intentioned and kindly, set up an organization of wise men whom he sent to various countries on his private payroll to advise foreign governments in various ways.

The Crane men were supposed to keep their connection secret, but such things do come out. I encountered some of them in China in those days and they proved to be a nuisance both to the American and Chinese officials. Some of them were men of enormous culture and some were highly experienced, but they had neither authority nor responsibility and therefore were meddlesome Nellys.

During the Russian Revolution in 1917, perhaps half a dozen Americans, some of distinction, represented the State Department. President Wilson privately, the American Red Cross, and George Creel's organization. Each man had different instructions. Each one vied with the other in attempting to be important.

I recall that Leon Trotsky, who was worried that certain elements would kidnap the American Ambassador, David Francis, discussed this question with me. Trotsky had lived in the United States and knew our ways well. He could not understand, however, why the President kept these competing great men in Petrograd where they only created the impression of insistent confusion.

Apparently, we have had the same sort of thing in Cuba. The center of authority is lost in the encouragement of a number of diverse persons and agencies to get into the act. Each group of Cuban refugees in New York and Miami was dealing with some one else and the competition was so wild and open that Castro knew each secret even before it was born.

It is fortunate that the tractor business turned out to be a failure. Imagine, if it had succeeded, what Mao Tse-tung would have charged to free Americans he still holds prisoner!

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.
That bout of nonparalytic polio may not have been polio at all! Many viruses mimic polio. A few even cause paralysis.

The first polio masquerader turned up near Albany in Cocksackie, New York. Named for his home town, Cocksackie virus was soon discovered around the globe. Newer tests showed several different types of Cocksackie viruses.

Mumps and other viruses may also mimic polio. Still Cocksackie viruses account for most imitation polio.

You have to catch the germs directly from someone else. They swarm into your intestine, where they rest, gathering forces for a few days. Then they invade your blood stream and attack the nervous system, causing meningitis.

At first your throat's sore. Soon your head throbs, eyes ache and fever drenches your bedclothes. You feel queasy and your stomach erupts. Back muscles stiffen and the neck becomes rigid.

For a week or ten days the world seems like a nightmare. Then, temperature plummets and you suddenly feel like your old self again. Cocksackie viruses hardly ever result in paralysis. The meningitis is usually a carbon copy of nonparalytic polio. Only special laboratory tests can tell the difference.

The viruses may be grown in special test tubes, while blood tests show which antibodies are developing.

Good general resistance may keep Cocksackie infection from erupting into full-blown polio-like meningitis. A mild infection may cause only a few canker sores in the back of mouth and sometimes the infection can be stopped cold.

While Cocksackie viruses prefer to strike children, they hit adults with greater force. Keep your resistance up!

Enjoy a healthful menu chock-full of vitamins, minerals, proteins and calories. Get plenty of rest. Don't swim on cool days; chills seem to lower resistance.

Stay in top form and you won't be caught in any masquerade—at least not until Halloween!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

CLEVELAND (AP)—How would you like to have several thousand bottles of beer arrive suddenly in your back yard?

It happened Thursday night to Slavoy Slansky of suburban Strongsville—and he couldn't keep a single bottle.

The compressed air in the brakes of a truck failed and driver Ernest E. Lingle decided to jack-knife the rig rather than risk an accident with autos. The vehicle spun over on its right side and landed partly in Slansky's yard. Lingle was not hurt seriously.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Premier Khrushchev has been helpful and impartial to the Republican and Democratic administrations in recent years just as they were going through the wringer to get congressional approval for their foreign aid plans.

Three years in a row he has stirred up such a ruckus about something that Congress looked on foreign aid as a pretty good idea. If he had played quiet, Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy might have had more trouble here at home.

Khrushchev did it in 1959 when Eisenhower was in the White House by threatening Berlin. He did it again in 1960 by insulting Eisenhower, wrecking the summit meeting, and being generally belligerent.

And now, just as Kennedy was having a gloomy time getting approval for his new long-range foreign aid program, Khrushchev dug up his Berlin scare again, trotted it out, and made foreign aid sound like one of the good ways to undercut him.

Thursday, for instance, Sen. J. W. Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat and chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said menacing conditions in Berlin, Cuba and Laos have improved chances for Kennedy's foreign aid proposals.

This was after Secretary of State Dean Rusk had told the committee about the troubles communism is causing the United States around the world.

Since the war the United States has spent $85.8 billion on foreign aid—$60.4 billion of it for economic help and $25.4 billion for military assistance in one form or another. This aid has gone to more than 70 nations.

Since the recovery of the European allies of the United States, who were helped back on their feet after the war by American aid, they have joined in giving some help to more backward areas. Kennedy wants them to do more.

In the past American help was given on a year-by-year basis which brought complaints from American critics that this was the wrong way, that aid should be given long-range to let receiving nations do long-range planning with worthwhile projects.

Kennedy bought this idea and asked Congress to let him approve aid over a five-year period. This has been one of the big bottlenecks since Congress traditionally likes tighter control, such as year-by-year spending provisions.

For the coming year Kennedy asked what Eisenhower had asked, about $4 billion. But for the long-range project he asked around $8 billion, although in practice it probably will run a lot higher.

Kennedy suggested too:

1. Putting most existing economie aid programs into a single new agency whose boss would report directly to Kennedy and Rusk.

2. Arms aid, now running about $2 billion a year and administered through the Pentagon, would be separated from the annual foreign aid package and placed in the military budget.

3. Carefully tailored programs for each country receiving aid, based on the over-all needs and local resources rather than unrelated projects, with special favor toward those nations undertaking social and economic reforms.

It's doubtful Kennedy will get all he asked—at least in the form he asked—but Khrushchev's fist-banging is a big help in convincing Congress he has to be stopped and one of the safest ways is through some more foreign aid.

Views on Socialized Medicine

Britain's system of socialized medicine has been under intense American scrutiny from its inception. There were some who regarded it as the wave of the future for America, more who were unalterably against it, and others who observed it only as an exhibit of the passing world.

Now Britain's National Health Service is inaugurating still higher charges, which proves to opponents of the scheme that the whole thing is a costly fraud.

In its inauguration year, 1948, the program cost $490 million. Today the cost is $2.4 billion, of which the government supplies $1.8 billion. This burden is regarded as too heavy on the hard pressed British budget.

While everything originally was intended to be on the taxpayers, the Briton is now called upon to pay 28 cents for a prescription instead of 14 cents. And both employer and employee will have substantially more extracted from pay checks to reduce the burden on the government.

Hospitals are overcrowded and some medicos say citizens are taking too much medicine because it's on the government.

An Undignified Attempt

By George Sokolsky

One tends to give the benefit of the doubt to those who seek to devote themselves to saving persons from imprisonment or death. However, it is often the case that persons of good-will become over-enthusiastic about just causes.

The attempt to exchange tractors for human beings was not only absurd but undignified. The device of having a committee of private citizens attempt to do what the government was ashamed to do, fooled nobody. Quite openly the Committee advertised that the President of the United States was behind the proposal. Negotiations between the United States and a foreign nation however are best conducted through proper channels.

Castro, of course, made monkeys of the Traitor Committee. He constantly changed the terms. He asked for more. His final proposal was so ridiculous that the Tractor Committee had to turn it down and go out of existence.

What is there to be learned from all this?

More and more it is becoming clear that there are too many volunteers and amateurs in the Kennedy Administration, too many anxious beavers who want to get into things. The President has much to learn from the Cuban fiasco which continues to be a fiasco.

Surely he has discovered by now that the Marine Corps can do a better commando job than the CIA. The redoubtable General Smedley Butler showed more ability any day of his service than the para-military amateurs in the CIA.

Secondly, the President must by now have discovered that an excellent technician does not necessarily have the breadth of view and the imagination to formulate policy. The fourth floor of the State Department represents, on the whole, considerable ability but insufficient maturity. It was the fourth floor of the State Department that made it possible for Castro to take possession of Cuba. It was there that the decision was made that Batista was a bad boy and Castro a good boy.

Thirdly, on the other hand, no President can do without trained experts. These men have the advantage of languages, of knowledge of the history and literature and the personalities of the countries with which they deal.

The distinction between a technician and a policy-maker, however, is very great. A President and a Secretary of State can and should utilize technicians where they fit, but policy should be made on a broader plane than the technicians are capable of grasping.

Finally, the uninformed, untrained amateur, whose heart is in the right place and who slobbers over every sentimental cause can be a menace. During World War I and immediately after, the manufacturer of plumbing, Charles R. Crane, a noble citizen, well-intentioned and kindly, set up an organization of wise men whom he sent to various countries on his private payroll to advise foreign governments in various ways.

The Crane men were supposed to keep their connection secret, but such things do come out. I encountered some of them in China in those days and they proved to be a nuisance both to the American and Chinese officials. Some of them were men of enormous culture and some were highly experienced, but they had neither authority nor responsibility and therefore were meddlesome Nellys.

During the Russian Revolution in 1917, perhaps half a dozen Americans, some of distinction, represented the State Department. President Wilson privately, the American Red Cross, and George Creel's organization. Each man had different instructions. Each one vied with the other in attempting to be important.

I recall that Leon Trotsky, who was worried that certain elements would kidnap the American Ambassador, David Francis, discussed this question with me. Trotsky had lived in the United States and knew our ways well. He could not understand, however, why the President kept these competing great men in Petrograd where they only created the impression of insistent confusion.

Apparently, we have had the same sort of thing in Cuba. The center of authority is lost in the encouragement of a number of diverse persons and agencies to get into the act. Each group of Cuban refugees in New York and Miami was dealing with some one else and the competition was so wild and open that Castro knew each secret even before it was born.

It is fortunate that the tractor business turned out to be a failure. Imagine, if it had succeeded, what Mao Tse-tung would have charged to free Americans he still holds prisoner!

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.

That bout of nonparalytic polio may not have been polio at all! Many viruses mimic polio. A few even cause paralysis.

The first polio masquerader turned up near Albany in Cocksackie, New York. Named for his home town, Cocksackie virus was soon discovered around the globe. Newer tests showed several different types of Cocksackie viruses.

Mumps and other viruses may also mimic polio. Still Cocksackie viruses account for most imitation polio.

You have to catch the germs directly from someone else. They swarm into your intestine, where they rest, gathering forces for a few days. Then they invade your blood stream and attack the nervous system, causing meningitis.

At first your throat's sore. Soon your head throbs, eyes ache and fever drenches your bedclothes. You feel queasy and your stomach erupts. Back muscles stiffen and the neck becomes rigid.

For a week or ten days the world seems like a nightmare. Then, temperature plummets and you suddenly feel like your old self again.

Cocksackie viruses hardly ever result in paralysis.

The meningitis is usually a carbon copy of nonparalytic polio. Only special laboratory tests can tell the difference.

The viruses may be grown in special test tubes, while blood tests show which antibodies are developing.

Good general resistance may keep Cocksackie infection from erupting into full-blown polio - like meningitis. A mild infection may cause only a few canker sores in the back of mouth and sometimes the infection can be stopped cold.

While Cocksackie viruses prefer to strike children, they hit adults with greater force. Keep your resistance up!

Enjoy a healthful menu chock-full of vitamins, minerals, proteins and calories. Get plenty of rest. Don't swim on cool days; chills seem to lower resistance.

Stay in top form and you won't be caught in any masquerade - at least not until Halloween!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

Miss Mearns and Mr. Smith Married in West Virginia

The First Christian Church, Parkersburg, W. Va., was the setting for the marriage of Miss Carlotta Jenene Mearns and Mr. Russell Fredrick Smith Jr., on June 11, at 3:30 p. m. Dr. Logan Martin, pastor emeritus, officiated at the open church ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Monid Burl Mearns, Sr., of Lubec, W. Va. Mr. Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell E. Smith, Parkersburg.

David Llewellyn, Fairmont, was organist and Richard Martin, Washington, Pa., was the vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza accented with Chantilly lace, the molded bodice of which featured long sleeves tapering at the wrist and a scooped neckline outlined with appliques of lace.

The bouffant skirt was accented with appliques of lace and the back was detailed with a bow of sheer organza ending in a chapel length train.

Her headdress was a crown of seed pearls and crystals to which was attached a fingertip veil of improved French silk.

She carried a colonial bouquet of white rosebuds and baby breath with snapdragons arranged on a white Bible.

Miss Barbara Dian Mearns, sister of the bride, was the maid-of-honor.

She was attired in a blue ballerina length gown of silk organza. The fitted bodice was designed with a scoop neckline and tiny sleeves. The back of the dress was detailed with a shirred organza panel edged in matching satin with satin roses.

Her headpiece was a matching circular veil attached to a crown of velvet leaves. Her bouquet was a nosegay of red roses.

Judith Sayre, Linda Allemen and Leann Mearns of Columbus served as bridesmaids.

They wore dresses identical to the maid-of-honor and carried bouquets of blue carnations.

Kathy Valentine, Route 1, Circleville, was the flower girl. She wore a floor-length dress of white organza with a scoop neckline and cap sleeves. The waist featured a large blue sash that formed a bow in the back.

Her headpiece was a blue and white band of carnations and she carried a white flower basket with blue ribbon from which she dropped blue and white flower petals in the path of the bride.

David Joseph Smith served as best man for his brother. Ushers were Richard Flowers, Weirton, Paul Chikow, Logan and Burl Mearns, Jr., all of West Virginia.

A reception was held in the social room of the church. The bride's table was covered with a pink linen cloth and was centered with an arrangement of pink roses.

The couple is now residing in Parkersburg, W. Va. Local persons attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Valentine and daughters Cindy, Joyce and Kathy, Route 1.

Made of acetate knit, the outfits have the luxurious look of silk but are completely crease resistant and will never lose their well-tailored look, become baggy or sag.

The fabric is light in weight and is made for wearing pleasure all year round. Guaranteed hand-washable, a quick swish through mild suds is all that is needed to make these styles look just like new. They are also quick - drying and they need no blocking.

They really are ideal wardrobe companions for a short vacation or a trip around the world.

Tarlton WSCS Will Meet in August

The Tarlton WSCS will meet August 9, with Mrs. Dan Fogler, Mrs. William Fogler and Ethel Reid as hostesses.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Wilson and daughter Ginger, E. Mill St. and Sam Weller, E. High St., left today for a three weeks vacation in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morrison, Ashville, had as their 4th of July guests, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Yonker and children, Mike and Nancy, Fremont; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Morrison and children, Jeanne, Jeffrey and Kristine, Grove City.

Cool Cotton Costumes

Jerry Parnis, one of our outstanding American couturiers, is famous for her masterly handling of cotton. And we are indebted to her for being one of the first to take this fabric out of the kitchen and make it fashionable and important way back some twenty years ago.

This season, Miss Parnis has run true to form and has presented a collection of cottons that are as chic and wearable as any fashions shown in other materials.

Youthful Lines
Designed for "round-the-clock," the styles are young, free and crisp. Full short skirts are favored for warm days and nights because they are both cool and flattering.

Cotton in all its new concepts - unusual weaves, abstract or classical prints, vibrant or muted shades and color combinations - emerge with a common denominator, a fresh, immaculate, uncluttered look in these dresses and ensembles for summer.

Logan Elm Grange To Meet Tuesday

Logan Elm Grange will meet at 8 p. m. Tuesday in Pickaway Twp. School.

Honeymoon Is Over Face Facts

The bride is in tears, the man she married is a brute. Or, as the old saying goes, the honeymoon is over.

But Dr. Rebecca Liswood, wife for 42 years, marriage counselor and MD, feels no alarm.

There are disillusionments in marriage, she says, just as there are disillusionments in every new venture from starting college to going into business. And, as in those undertakings, success and happiness aren't automatic. You have to work at them.

You work, Dr. Liswood says, guided by consideration instead of by criticism.

Consider these cries of the bride:

1. "He's not the man I married."

The bride has suddenly discovered, for example, that her husband can't repair the household appliances and her "mage of a MAN is a Mr. Fixit."

"The worst thing you can do," Dr. Liswood says, "is insult him by saying, or even implying, 'You're not a real man.'"

"The best thing you can do is accept this as part of his real personality you gave him before you were married."

2. "I can't get along with his mother" or "He doesn't like my mother."

These can become the themes for arguments which run on a to-be-continued basis for years. Dr. Liswood says:

"The bride particularly resents helpful suggestions from her mother-in-law. She complains to the husband that his mother is interfering."

"What he should say is, 'I love you and I love my mother but don't nodd me responsible for her. I didn't bring her up.' But, instead, the average man says, 'Don't criticize my mother.' Then the wife is hurt and begins to think he is more loyal to his mother than he is to her."

"The wife should try to realize that her new husband probably defends his mother because he feels guilt feelings about having left his mother and it eases his conscience to defend her."

3. "We don't know how to manage money."

The most obvious thing to do is the best, Dr. Liswood says. Make a budget. "If you're both working, try to live on the income of the husband and save the earnings of the wife. Then when you have a child and the wife's income is cut out, you won't have the disappointments of going down the scale of living."

"Disappointments create many problems and arguments." Dr. Liswood, who has written a book, "A Marriage Doctor Speaks her Mind About Sex," believes the sexual adjustment is one of the most difficult a newlywed couple has to make.

The thing to do with any problem in married life, Dr. Liswood says, is to think it through yourself and then talk it over with your husband.

If you and your husband can't solve the problem by talking it out, she says, go to your doctor or clergyman. And if he suggests a marriage counselor, go for counseling.

Miss Mearns and Mr. Smith Married in West Virginia

The First Christian Church, Parkersburg, W. Va., was the setting for the marriage of Miss Carlotta Jenene Mearns and Mr. Russell Fredrick Smith Jr., on June 11, at 3:30 p. m. Dr. Logan Martin, pastor emeritus, officiated at the open church ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza accented with Chantilly lace, the molded bodice of which featured long sleeves tapering at the wrist and a scooped neckline outlined with appliques of lace.

The bouffant skirt was accented with appliques of lace and the back was detailed with a bow of sheer organza ending in a chapel length train.

Her headdress was a crown of seed pearls and crystals to which was attached a fingertip veil of improved French silk.

She carried a colonial bouquet of white rosebuds and baby breath with snapdragons arranged on a white Bible.

Miss Barbara Dian Mearns, sister of the bride, was the maid-of-honor.

She was attired in a blue ball-erina length gown of silk organza. The fitted bodice was designed with a scoop neckline and tiny sleeves. The back of the dress was detailed with a shirred organza panel edged in matching satin with satin rosettes.

Her headpiece was a matching circular veil attached to a crown of velvet leaves. Her bouquet was a nosegay of red roses.

Judith Sayre, Linda Alleman and Leann Mearns of Columbus served as bridesmaids.

They wore dresses identical to the maid-of-honor and carried bouquets of blue carnations.

Kathy Valentine, Route 1, Circleville, was the flower girl. She wore a floor-length dress of white organza with a scoop neckline and cap sleeves. The waist featured a large blue sash that formed a bow in the back.

Her headpiece was a blue and white band of carnations and she carried a white flower basket with blue ribbon from which she dropped blue and white flower petals in the path of the bride.

David Joseph Smith served as best man for his brother. Ushers were Richard Flowers, Weirton, Paul Chikow, Logan and Burl Mearns, Jr., all of West Virginia.

A reception was held in the social room of the church. The bride's table was covered with a pink linen cloth and was centered with an arrangement of pink roses.

The couple is now residing in Parkersburg, W. Va.

Local persons attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Valentine and daughters Cindy, Joyce and Kathy, Route 1.

Two Elks Hurlers Fashion No-Hitter

The Elks' Bob Dean and Tim Wells combined to toss an 11-0 no-hit, no-run barrier against struggling Bingman's Druggs in last night's top Little Major League contest. Coca-Cola halted a last-inning comeback bid by Purina to down the chowmen 4-2 in the other major tilt.

In the minors, unbeaten Wards Market kept their win streak intact, outlasting Circleville Oil 11-9. The Jaycees bested visiting Tarlton Merchants in a 20-18 slugfest.

Dean hurled the first four frames of the BPOE triumph. He put the side down in order in the first, second and fourth, permitting only one man to reach base on an error in the third.

Wells came on in the fifth, retiring the Bingman's batters on three infield outs in the fifth. In the last stanza the Elks ace struck out three men in a row to end the tilt.

FOR THE winners, Dean and Watson cracked opening - inning doubles to place three counters.

Cincinnati '9' No Longer Is Long Shot

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds, 25 to 1 on the pre-season betting line, have long since stopped looking like long shots — but they haven't stopped ailing them.

That's one reason they're five games ahead of their nearest rival in the National League today. There are other reasons, too, like pitching, and they also showed some of that Friday night as they flattened the Los Angeles Dodgers twice, 11-7 and 4-1, before the largest night crowd in the league's history—68,742.

Right-hander Ken Hunt didn't look like the rookie of the year in the opener, but still managed to score his ninth victory in 13 decisions as the Reds worked over four Dodger pitchers for 13 hits. Vada Pinson hit a three-run homer. Gene Freese got one with one man on, and Hunt himself drove in a couple of runs with a double. Bob Purkey went all the way for Cincinnati in the second game, picking up his 11th victory in 15 decisions. The Dodgers got eight hits but with the exception of the fourth inning, when they scored their only run, they couldn't get a man beyond second base.

Freese, who drove in three runs in the opener, got his 17th homer with the bases empty in the ninth inning of the second game.

Purkey got all the runs he needed in the fourth, when the Reds scored twice off loser Stan Williams (8-8). Frank Robinson drove in one run with a single, and Gus Bell brought in the other with a sacrifice fly.

Freese scored the third run on a single by Purkey after doubling in the seventh.

Chamber Squad Rallies To Win

Hurler Hits Well After Mound Stint

A double, single and two errors gave Chamber of Commerce the boost they needed to tally three fifth-inning runs and defeat visiting Ashville, 8-5, last night.

The barrage came after Ashville had maintained a lead for four frames against a persistent C of C attack.

Roof and Mallory singled and Chet Hill walked three men and hit another as Ashville rocked across a quartet of markers in the top of the first.

Chamber retaliated with three scores in the bottom of the opening frame as Hill redeemed himself with a booming double good for two runs. Smith and Betts cracked out one-baggers to bring across the third tally.

BOTH squads went runless in the second. In the third the visitors took further advantage of Hill's control trouble to plate a single counter without a safety. Kuhlwein, the Ashville harrier ran into the same difficulty in the bottom of the frame as walks and fielding miscues resulted in a C of C run.

Jeff Lutz came to the mound for the Circleville outfit in the fourth. Over the rest of the route, reliever Lutz blanked the Ashville nine on just four hits, three of them harmless singles.

After being held hitless in the fourth, Hill, now in left field, slugged a double to open Chamber's fifth. Betts followed with a one-bagger that plated Hill with the tying run. Two errors and a fielder's choice filled the sacks and infield grounders brought home the inning's second and third runs.

In the sixth the winners pushed through a final run on three straight Ashville fielding boos. Kuhlwein was the loser and Lutz took the win.

Cincinnati '9' No Longer Is Long Shot

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds, 25 to 1 on the pre-season betting line, have long since stopped looking like long shots — but they haven't stopped nailing them.

That's one reason they're five games ahead of their nearest rival in the National League today.

There are other reasons, too, like pitching, and they also showed some of that Friday night as they flattened the Los Angeles Dodgers twice, 11-7 and 4-1, before the largest night crowd in the league's history—68,742.

Righthander Ken Hunt didn't look like the rookie of the year in the opener, but still managed to score his ninth victory in 13 decisions as the Reds worked over four Dodger pitchers for 13 hits. Vada Pinson hit a three-run homer. Gene Freese got one with one man on, and Hunt himself drove in a couple of runs with a double.

Bob Purkey went all the way for Cincinnati in the second game, picking up his 11th victory in 15 decisions. The Dodgers got eight hits but with the exception of the fourth inning, when they scored their only run, they couldn't get a man beyond second base.

Freese, who drove in three runs in the opener, got his 17th homer with the bases empty in the ninth inning of the second game.

Purkey got all the runs he needed in the fourth, when the Reds scored twice off loser Stan Williams (8-8). Frank Robinson drove in one run with a single, and Gus Bell brought in the other with a sacrifice fly.

Freese scored the third run on a single by Purkey after doubling in the seventh.

Two Elks Hurlers Fashion No-Hitter

The Elks' Bob Dean and Tim Wells combined to toss an 11-0 no-hit, no-run barrier against struggling Bingman's Drugs in last night's top Little Major League contest. Coca-Cola halted a last-inning comeback bid by Purina to down the chowmen 4-2 in the other major tilt.

In the minors, unbeaten Wards Market kept their win streak intact, outlasting Circleville Oil 11-9. The Jaycees bested visiting Tarlton Merchants in a 20-18 slugfest.

Dean hurled the first four frames of the BPOE triumph. He put the side down in order in the first, second and fourth, permitting only one man to reach base on an error in the third.

Wells came on in the fifth, retiring the Bingman's batters on three infield outs in the fifth. In the last stanza the Elks ace struck out three men in a row to end the tilt.

FOR THE winners, Dean and Watson cracked opening -inning doubles to place three counters.

Chamber Squad Rallies To Win

Hurler Hits Well After Mound Stint

A double, single and two errors gave Chamber of Commerce the boost they needed to tally three fifth-inning runs and defeat visiting Ashville, 8-5, last night.

The barrage came after Ashville had maintained a lead for four frames against a persistent C of C attack. Roof and Mallory singled and Chet Hill walked three men and hit another as Ashville rocked across a quartet of markers in the top of the first.

Chamber retaliated with three scores in the bottom of the opening frame as Hill redeemed himself with a booming double good for two runs. Smith and Betts cracked out one-baggers to bring across the third tally.

BOTH squads went runless in the second. In the third the visitors took further advantage of Hill's control trouble to plate a single counter without a safety. Kuhlwein, the Ashville hurler ran into the same difficulty in the bottom of the frame as walks and fielding miscues resulted in a C of C run.

Jeff Lutz came to the mound for the Circleville outfit in the fourth. Over the rest of the route, reliever Lutz blanked the Ashville nine on just four hits, three of them harmless singles.

After being held hitless in the fourth, Hill, now in left field, slugged a double to open Chamber's fifth. Betts followed with a one-bagger that plated Hill with the tying run. Two errors and a fielder's choice filled the sacks and infield grounders brought home the inning's second and third runs.

In the sixth the winners pushed through a final run on three straight Ashville fielding boots. Kuhlwein was the loser and Lutz took the win.

The Jaycees used a dozen runs in the first to bolster their 20-18 victory. Tarlton registered 14 runs in the last three innings, but failed to overhaul the Jaycees advantage.

Eight tallies in the fourth and one in the sixth sealed the decision for the Junior Chamber outfit.

Squabble on Madison Avenue Seen Boon to George Gobel

HOLLYWOOD (AP) A Madison Avenue squabble over a TV time slot could catapult George Gobel into the toast of Broadway next fall.

George filmed a pilot film last winter for a comedy series, and a sponsor bought it almost as soon as the film was developed.

"The sponsor (Proctor and Gamble) even had a time of their own available, says Gobel. "If ever a series was set, this was it. We were to be on ABC-TV Thursday night between Fred MacMurray and 'The Untouchables.'"

"But then someone in the network thought my show was too similar to MacMurray's. I played a bachelor uncle who helps his widowed sister raise her kids. Fred plays a widower who also raises a family.

"The argument makes sense except it comes from the same jokers who programmed three Westerns in a row. So I wound up with a TV series that has no place to go—even if its bought and paid for.

But don't feel sorry for lone-some George. He will be the star of "Let It Ride", a hit Broadway musical even before it opens next October.

"The advance sale from just theater parties alone is $1,200,000, says George, who owns a healthy piece of the show. "Its gonna cost us $400,000 to put it on, so I guess we got a profit already."

The musical is based on the famed farce of 25 years ago — "Three Men on a Horse."

Gobel, of course, plays the mild-mannered greeting card poet whose hobby is picking horses—always 100 per cent right.

Middletown Firm Ordered on Block

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — The United Welding Co. of Middletown will be sold at auction Sept. 19, it was announced today by John A. Lawler, president of the Aeronca Manufacturing Corp. which has been operating the plant since June of last year.

Lawler said approximately 90 employees will be given termination pay, and efforts are being made to find other jobs for them.

United Welding manufactures machine tool and diesel engine parts and paper machinery parts. It was founded in 1913 and later became a division of the Baldwin-Lima-Hamilton Corp.

Last year, in answer, to a community plea, Aeronca stepped in to take over the plant when it was faced with closing because of lack of business.

Newly Merged Church Ready To OK Protestant Reunion

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The newly merged United Church of Christ today opened its arms to a plan for more sweeping Protestant reunion with Methodists, Episcopalians and Presbyterians.

The denomination's General Synod voted to respond affirmatively to the widely heralded "Blake plan" for negotiations aimed at detailed consideration by the Council.

The first stipulation was that Council proceed "immediately" with an investigation of alternate methods other than those presently being employed for sewage disposal.

It was also demanded that Council obtain engineer's proposals and plans for any method that the legislators might select.

Early in March, Carl H. Gerken of Napoleon, was employed by Council to prepare plans for a lagoon-type treatment facility. This system of treatment, employing natural disposal methods in its process, has received state approval for small villages.

Gerken's blueprints were submitted to the Water Pollution Board as required, and obtained quick approval from the department's engineering staff.

The third major requirement—that of a proposed schedule of construction this year for the sewage facilities — is not yet deemed feasible by Council.

The village solons, facing a demanding time limit, plan to present the entire program, including construction and maintenance costs, and financing necessary for adoption to the public at the Wednesday session.

Complaints and objections will be aired and the exact requirements which the State Board of Health has placed upon the community will be explained.

Kingsion is one of a number of Ohio municipalities — both small and large — facing need for drastic revision of their sewage disposal programs.

The Village Council proposal for a new system has been termed, "quite satisfactory" by State health authorities.

East Berlin Reds Warn Residents

BERLIN (AP)—East Berlin's Communist government issued a warning today to the 50,000 East Berliners who work in West Berlin that they must obey Communist law. They also were told they have no right to new housing in East Berlin.

Hundreds of trains go back and forth every day on a dozen subway and elevated lines. Most autos are checked only briefly at the sector border, and pedestrians hardly at all.

But lately there have been reports that the Communist authorities were planning action against the border crossers. The Communists want to turn West Berlin into an isolated "free city." The West maintains that all Berlin is a single city under the rule of the United States, Soviet Union, France and Britain.

Today the Communist city government of East Berlin announced some of its citizens have been complaining about those who work in the West. The charge was that they have "let themselves be hired away by capitalist enterprises in West Berlin."

This is the same thing, the Red authorities said, as supporting Communist enemies in West Germany.

Middletown Firm Ordered on Block

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — The United Welding Co. of Middletown will be sold at auction Sept. 19, it was announced today by John A. Lawler, president of the Aeronca Manufacturing Corp. which has been operating the plant since June of last year.

Lawler said approximately 90 employees will be given termination pay, and efforts are being made to find other jobs for them.

United Welding manufactures machine tool and diesel engine parts and paper machinery parts. It was founded in 1913 and later became a division of the Baldwin-Lima-Hamilton Corp.

Last year, in answer, to a community plea, Aeronca stepped in to take over the plant when it was faced with closing because of lack of business.

Newly Merged Church Ready To OK Protestant Reunion

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The newly merged United Church of Christ today opened its arms to a plan for more sweeping Protestant reunion with Methodists, Episcopalians and Presbyterians.

The denomination's General Synod voted to respond affirmatively to the widely heralded "Blake plan" for negotiations aimed at detailed consideration by the Council.

The first stipulation was that Council proceed "immediately" with an investigation of alternate methods other than those presently being employed for sewage disposal.

It was also demanded that Council obtain engineer's proposals and plans for any method that the legislators might select.

Early in March, Carl H. Gerken of Napoleon, was employed by Council to prepare plans for a lagoon-type treatment facility. This system of treatment, employing natural disposal methods in its process, has received state approval for small villages.

Gerken's blueprints were submitted to the Water Pollution Board as required, and obtained quick approval from the department's engineering staff.

THE third major requirement—that of a proposed schedule of construction this year for the sewage facilities — is not yet deemed feasible by Council.

The village solons, facing a demanding time limit, plan to present the entire program, including construction and maintenance costs, and financing necessary for adoption to the public at the Wednesday session.

Complaints and objections will be aired and the exact requirements which the State Board of Health has placed upon the community will be explained.

Kingston is one of a number of Ohio municipalities — both small and large — facing need for drastic revision of their sewage disposal programs.

The Village Council proposal for a new system has been termed, "quite satisfactory" by State health authorities.

such a church union. It would include nearly 20 million Christians.

Initiated last May by the United Presbyterian Church, at the urging of its chief executive, the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, the proposal is slated for consideration by the Episcopal Church convention this fall.

Once it clears that hurdle, the plan calls for a joint Episcopal-Presbyterian invitation to Methodists and the United Church to enter into talks. The assembly here gave an advance welcome to the idea.

With its constitution put into effect only this week, the United Church also extended its call for union to the Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ), and got an immediate favorable response.

"We promised in the beginning not only to be a united church but a uniting church," said the Rev. Dr. Ben M. Herbst, of Norwood, Ohio, the newly named president of the 2-million-member United Church.

After its general synod authorized negotiations "looking toward possible union" with the Christian (Disciples) church, its leaders replied that representatives were ready to begin talks this fall.

That denomination has about 1.8 million members in nearly 8,000 congregations across the country.

If combined with the United Church, whose merger of the Evangelical and Reformed and Congregational Christian churches was completed only this week, it would make a body of almost 4 million in 14,000 congregations.

Metal Firm Is Entered

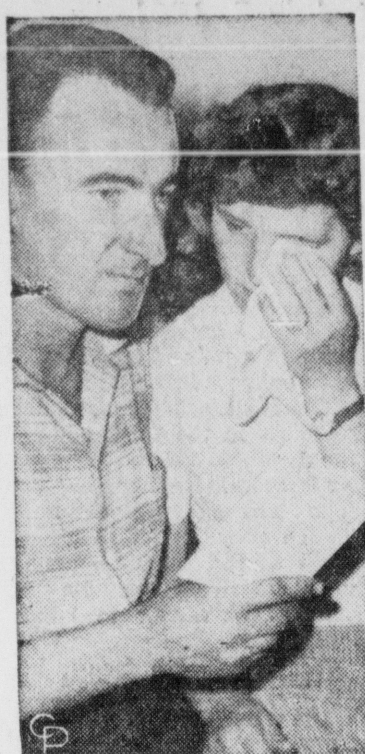

The Circleville Iron and Metal Co., 619 S. Clinton St., was the scene of burglary during the night, according to the Circleville Police Department.

City Patrolman William Brungs, said the burglary occurred between 5:30 p. m. yesterday and 8 a. m. today.

Officer Brungs said entry was gained by breaking a window on the east side of the building. The entire office was ransacked and several items were reported missing by Julius Gordon, owner of the establishment.

Gordon said two packages of liquor, 150 pennies, two packages of cigarettes and a metal deposit box were taken. He added that nothing of value was in the deposit box which was locked.

Brungs said the matter is under investigation and several clues were being probed.

East Berlin Reds Warn Residents

BERLIN (AP)—East Berlin's Communist government issued a warning today to the 50,000 East Berliners who work in West Berlin that they must obey Communist law. They also were told they have no right to new housing in East Berlin.

Hundreds of trains go back and forth every day on a dozen subway and elevated lines. Most autos are checked only briefly at the sector border, and pedestrians hardly at all.

But lately there have been reports that the Communist authorities were planning action against the border crossers. The Communists want to turn West Berlin into an isolated "free city." The West maintains that all Berlin is a single city under the rule of the United States, Soviet Union, France and Britain.

Today the Communist city government of East Berlin announced some of its citizens have been complaining about those who work in the West. The charge was that they have "let themselves be hired away by capitalist enterprises in West Berlin."

This is the same thing, the Red authorities said, as supporting Communist enemies in West Germany.
